Защита окружающей среды

Environmental problems are a pressing global issue that threatens the health and sustainability of our planet. From climate change to deforestation, pollution, and loss of biodiversity, these challenges are interconnected and require urgent attention. The rise in greenhouse gas emissions is leading to rising global temperatures, extreme weather events, and sea-level rise. Deforestation is destroying vital ecosystems and habitats for countless species. Pollution from industrial activities, agriculture, and waste disposal is contaminating our air, water, and soil. Addressing these environmental problems requires collective action, sustainable practices, conservation efforts, and policy changes to protect our planet for future generations.

Спорт в нашей жизни

Everyone wants to be healthy. Good health affects the way people behave, work, and interacts with each other. As the proverb goes, "Health is wealth."

Россия- моя Родина

Russia is unique country. Our country is well known around the world with its enormous territory, various and beautiful landscapes. In addition we have great history and cultural heritage. From generation to generation stories of great event and personalities are told. So thinking of native land we think about modern and former heroes: artists, musicians, writers and poets. I love my Russia and I proud with its endless fields, fertile forests, seas, rivers, lakes, cities and villages.

I could never leave my country. I was born here, same raised here so it became part of my life. I'm very glad to live in peaceful time. It is the opportunity to visit great school to get education, do my favorite things and stay close to my family and friends. Because homeland is not only land it's also people that surround us in daily life. It's bigger than one can imagine.

Deep knowledge about my country is my priority. I know it takes lots of efforts and there will be many difficulties but I'm confident about myself. As they say man is happy knowing his destination, where his should follow and how make his dreams into real. I will decorate my life with dreams having bright future ahead. And I'm really glad to live in Russia.

Москва- столица нашей страны

A lot of works could be written about the capital of our Motherland — Moscow. The city is rather old but very modern at the same time. It was founded in 1147 by Yuriy Dolgorukiy/

Just take a walk along the Arbat meeting the artists painting portraits, playing different musical instruments, sellers of various souvenirs, tourists and passers-by and you will feel the atmosphere of the city.

Moscow is the largest city of Russia, located on the Moskva River. Today the modern city is ranked as one of the most beautiful in the world. There is a huge number of green cozy parks and squares here. Also, you can admire the great architectural delights and countless sights, many of which are located in the heart of the city. They are the Kremlin, theaters - Maly and Bolshoy, and Saint Basil's Cathedral, the Armory Chamber, and the building of the Historical Museum. This list can be continued indefinitely. Moscow is not only the official capital of our Motherland but also an educational, cultural, scientific and industrial center. The most important and the largest buildings of museums, galleries, universities, companies, opera houses and research centers are located in the city. Moscow is very diverse: it has rich centers filled with expensive cars, supermarkets, restaurants, boutiques, cafes and also the outskirts, where everything looks slightly simpler. All the same, it's all Moscow that has seen a lot of difficulties during the long years of its existence. Our capital has a really rich history.

Thousands of applicants come to Moscow to study. They are not only Russians but also citizens of other countries. Returning to their homeland after graduation, they remember the years of study in the capital with great gratitude.

Калининград- мой родной город

Introduction

Kaliningrad, formerly known as Königsberg, is a unique city and the administrative center of the Kaliningrad Oblast, the westernmost part of the Russian Federation. It is an exclave, meaning it is geographically separated from the rest of Russia, located on the Baltic Sea between Poland and Lithuania. The city serves as a fascinating blend of German history and Russian culture.

History and Heritage

Founded in 1255 by Teutonic knights, the city was named Königsberg (King's Mountain) and was a major Prussian city for centuries. It was the birthplace of the famous philosopher Immanuel Kant, whose tomb is located in the heart of the city. After World War II, the city became part of the Soviet Union and was renamed Kaliningrad in 1946. Despite heavy destruction during the war, the city has preserved and restored some of its historical sites.

Key Attractions

1. Kant Island and the Cathedral (Kneiphof): The Cathedral, a masterpiece of brick Gothic architecture, is a symbol of the city. It hosts regular organ concerts.
2. The Fishing Village (Rybnaya Derevnnya): A modern ethnographic and craft center built in the style of pre-war Königsberg, offering beautiful views of the Pregolya River.
3. The Amber Museum: Located in an old defensive tower, it features a vast collection of amber items, which is the region's most famous natural resource.
4. Amalienau District: An area representing the old, cozy German suburb with villa-style architecture.
5. The Curonian Spit (Kurshskaya Kosa): A UNESCO World Heritage site, it is a narrow sandy strip separating the Baltic Sea from the Curonian Lagoon, famous for its "Dancing Forest" and sand dunes.

Modern Kaliningrad

Today, Kaliningrad is an important economic and cultural hub. It is often referred to as the "Amber Capital of the World". It is also known for its maritime history, highlighted by the Museum of the World Ocean. Visitors are drawn to its unique architecture, nearby seaside towns like Zelenogradsk and Svetlogorsk, and cozy cafes.
